

XM radio provides my family with music and programming that is of a better quality than the off-air market. We have three choices in Christian music, we get several children's stations for our kids, and we hear news and sports too. I am impressed that XM radio has such a well thought weather and traffic channel which repeats the forecast and traffic conditions in my city every couple of minutes. We can travel anywhere in the country and we don't have to distract ourselves looking for a station because ours disappeared. Please keep satellite radio on the air. And please keep traffic and weather on satellite radio too. No one owns this information. I subscribe to xmradio because they are the company I want to hear.

Thanks,

Paul Mock
